Carbon County.

Carbon county was created in 1895, and has an area of 3,000 square miles. The assessment roll for the year 1903 shows a total of $3,054,396, divided into, realty, $1,536,952; personal property, $1,517,404; $82,081. The population in 1900 was 7,533, it is now estimated at 10,000. The industrial resources of the county are mining, farming and stock raising. The principal valleys are the Clarke Fork, Rocky Fork, Stillwater, and the Rosebud and its tributaries.

Not in all the broad domain of the "Treasure State of Montana" are the natural resources more fittingly adapted for the agriculturist or stockgrower than are those within the boundaries of Carbon county.

The numerous small streams flowing down its fertile valleys furnish an abundant supply of water for irrigation not surpassed by any other agricultural section of the state.

In years past the hills and valleys of what now comprises the county of Carbon were monopolized by large herds of cattle and sheep, but since the valleys have been settled upon and the streams fenced in to a large extent, the great herds have been reduced, until now the stock is almost entirely owned by the smaller owners and ranchmen. The hills and grazing lands back from the streams will always afford plenty of pasture lands for small herds of stock, and the rapid development of the coal mining industry provides a ready home market for products of both farm and ranch.

Alhaha, staple fodder for cattle, sheep or hogs is being raised by nearly every ranchman in the county. The yield for a season is from three to six tons to the acre. Barley, equal in every respect to the noted product of the Gallatin valley, is grown here, and finds a ready sale in the eastern states. Oats yield from 60 to 80 bushels per acre, wheat 35 to 40 bushels and other grains in proportion. Flax is also grown successfully, and farmers are encouraged to make it a staple crop. Potatoes attain an unsurpassed perfection. Small fruits are grown in all the valleys and yield largely. Their culture has paid well and the farmers are every year devoting more attention to their production. The ex-
