INTRODUCTION
1914

The Seventh edition of the R. L. Polk & Co's. Billings City and Yellowstone County Directory including Red Lodge and Carbon, Columbus and Stillwater and Hardin and Hig Horn Counties, is presented with the assurance that the work is as complete and accurate as it is possible to produce. All the features of the largest metropolitan directories are incorporated in the work.

This volume contains a complete City Directory of Billings, Red Lodge, Columbus and Hardin, and of all the villages in Yellowstone, Carbon, Stillwater and Hig Horn Counties.

It also contains the names of all the farmers in the Counties, giving the names of the owner of each piece of property, the number of acres, with the assessed valuation and postoffice address.

A complete list of all the banks, churches and societies and all the institutions and organizations existing within the Counties will be found conveniently arranged, and a full and complete description of the Counties and descriptions of all the cities, towns and villages in the Counties will be found in proper order.

A complete classified business directory of all the persons doing business in the Counties will be found in the last section of the work. This classified business directory will be ap­preciated as a useful purchaser's guide, both by the residents of this community and to all those who look to this market for supplies.

The publishers wish to extend thanks for the liberal patronage bestowed upon the work, and for the courtesies extended to its representatives.

Respectfully,

R. L. POLK & CO.

BILLINGS.

Billings is the chief manufacturing, jobbing, financial and general business center of an enormous empire, embracing part of nine counties in Montana and five counties in Wyoming. It is situated on the transcontinental Northern Pacific Railroad, 600 miles west of the Twin Cities and 600 miles east of Spokane, and on the transcontinental Gulf to Sound Great Northern Railroad, 500 miles northwest of Denver.

The author of this directory estimates the population to be, January 1, 1914, 15,000. The population in 1900 was 3,211; in 1910, 10,031.

Billings was platted by the Northern Pacific Railroad in 1882. It was named in honor of Frederick Billings, formerly President of the road. It was then at the head of navigation of the Yellowstone River, but since the advent of so many railroads, navigation has ceased. So Billings is now the hub of railroads extending in ten directions: the Northern Pacific, east and west; the Great Northern, north; the Burlington & Northern Pacific, with four branches, south and southwest; the Burlington, southeast; a railroad twenty miles long extending northeast, known as the Billings & Central Montana, and a Northern Pacific branch 100 miles long, extending northwest. Trains departing each morning for the terminus of these branches and returning each evening give Billings a constant transient population probably number 1,000 or more. The city is provided with fifteen hotels for the care of these, the chief of which are the Northern and the Grand. The railroad facilities, with their 24 passenger trains each day, make the city extremely easy of access; but in addition to these, Billings is the gateway to the Yellowstone National Park, and is in the direct line of travel to Glacier National Park. So, situated on the Yellowstone trail, which gathers at this point traffic also from the Denver-National Parks trail, and many tributary automobile roads, the city is a rendezvous for automobile tourists.

Billings is already the greatest jobbing centre in the State of Montana and paid the railroads in 1913 for freight shipments on merchandise more than any other city in the State. There are located here some 15 jobbing houses of various kinds, including machinery, groceries, produce and hardware, and it is estimated that the business done in hardware and machinery alone in 1913 was more than $3,000,000.

The largest manufacturing concern in the city is the beet sugar factory, costing $2,000,000, and the only one north of Colorado between Minnesota and the Pacific coast. It paid something more than $1,501,000 for the beet crop of 1913 and employs during the campaign season about 450 people.

Billings has also a large and modern foundry; a gas plant costing $250,000; a creamery which has an output of 40,000 pounds of butter a month; a small packing plant which handles dressed beef, mutton and pork; a flouring mill, daily capacity of 600 barrels; largest sash and door factory in eastern Montana; planing mills; a large brewery; a mattress factory; cement block plant; a brick plant, and many other small but prosperous and growing industries.

Eight banks care for the financial interests of the domain tributary to Billings. They have a combined capital of $650,000 and deposits in 1913 of more than $5,000,000; clearings from Jan. 1, 1913, to Nov. 6, were $18,360,367.27, as compared with the same period in 1912, which showed $14,772,262.91.

Billings has the only street car system west of the Missouri operating the Edison storage battery cars, which run trolley or cable.

Educational facilities aside from the public schools, annual training school, business college and Polytechnic which is practically as large as the State Agricultural. To take care of public education there are ten within the city limits and six in outlying districts, 75 teachers. The public schools in the Billings district enrolled at the beginning of the school year, 1913, gain of 200 over the previous year, the school census a juvenile population of 3,922.

The principal public buildings are a federal building costing $150,000; a court house, $105,000; city hall, $50,000; a $90,000 high school building has just been completed; the Parmly Billings Memorial Library; Masonic Temple, $100,000; a Y. M. C. A. building, $85,000; Elks' Club building, $150,000. The Masonic Temple and Elks' Club buildings are among the most expensive and elaborate in the west. The Babcock theatre, an the leading attractions touring the country. The city is well supplied with churches, nearly every denomination is represented. The City has employed a Park Commissioner and is spending thousands of dollars in the improvement of parks and boulevards.

Two daily Associated Press papers, the Billings Gazette and Billings Evening Journal, supply a metropolitan news service. The city improvements are keeping pace with the growth of the city.

All the principal business streets are paved, and three extensive improvement districts for paving are now being completed. The street lighting is unsurpassed. 50 tungsten lamps supported by ornamental posts light each block of the business district.

Hydroelectric power is cheaper in Billings than at Niagara Falls. It is even used for cooking purposes in many Billings homes, and serves to turn the wheels of every form of industry. In the Billings district are some of the richest coal mines in the country, giving the city cheap fuel.

With its natural strategic position and the start which the city has secured, it is believed by the best authorities that Billings is to become the chief city between the Twin Cities and the Pacific coast.

Although the city depends to a large extent for its prosperity on its commercial development, its chief and most secure foundation is in agriculture. It is the center of one of the largest irrigated districts in the world, where beet raising and many branches of intensive farming are practiced. Recently farming in the uplands without irrigation has proven a wonderful success, and settlers from every direction have flocked to this section of Montana and taken homesteads. Formerly stock raising was the principal interest. It is now, however, dividing its supremacy with the small farmer, and the combination of these two adds to the diversification and multiplies the wealth. Miles and miles of wheat fields have taken the place of great areas formerly used only for grazing. On the numerous irrigated projects intensive farming is coming strongly into vogue, and the day is not far distant when every 40 acres of irrigated land in this enormous district will support a family. Millions have been invested in government and private irrigation projects and all are proving great successes.

One of the chief assets of the Billings country is the climate. The altitude of the city is 3,115 feet; the precipitation, 14.96 inches; the mean annual temperature 47.2 degrees; that of summer being 69 degrees and of winter, 20.2 degrees. The sun shines during some part of the day of more than 340 days each year. The generally cool and invigorating atmosphere with an abundance of sunshine makes the climate exceedingly delightful, and is responsible for the fact that the death rate here is 7.4 per cer thousand—one of the lowest in America.

YELLOWSTONE COUNTY

Yellowstone County, of which Billings is the County Seat, has an area of 2232 square miles, having lost a large amount of its territory through county divisions, and until an accurate federal census is taken, exact statistics as to population will not be available. It is estimated that the county has about 22,000 population.

It is traversed across its center by the Yellowstone River and is one of the richest counties in the state. Its large amount of irrigated land makes its agriculture extremely important.

The 1913 valuation of property in the county, based on the chief assets are agriculture and stock raising, is estimated that about 60 per cent of the land is good agricultural land, and the remainder is used for grazing purposes. The 35 per cent ratio, is $14,511,497.

RED LODGE, MONT.
LAUREL.

Located in the valley of the Yellowstone, at the Junction the main line of the N P Ry and the Red Lodge Branch of same road and C B & Q Terminal, and is maintained by her railway and agricultural industries. Contiguous to her most prolific and productive agricultural area of Montana, principal products thereof consisting of cereals, fruit and sugar beets. From all these, tremendous yields are obtained, sugar beet fields largely maintaining the sugar factory located 16 miles east of us, and our fruit rivaling in both flavor and quality that produced in the most favored regions of either Washington or Oregon. As the terminal division point of the P Ry, with one of the largest and most modern roundhouses to be found in the entire West, with a railway payroll averaging $25,000 to $40,000 per month and constantly increasing, this city derives from this source a revenue of tremendous importance.

The city administration of Laurel have finished the construction of a waterworks and sewerage plant on an elaborate scale, with the completion of this public utility enterprise this city has become one of the most desirable residence towns to be found in the entire state.

The most salubrious climatic conditions prevail in Laurel and the surrounding country, thus adding to its manifold attractions. Public school system on the accredited list and one of the best in the state. Thomas A Rigney, postmaster.

STREET AND AVENUE GUIDE.

Explanatory.

Excepting Broadway a thoroughfare when running north and south is designated an avenue; when running east and west a street.

All Avenues and Streets in the following guide are compiled alphabetically irrespective of their relative positions.

Broadway and an imaginary extension of the same along the right of way of the Northern Pacific Railway and East and West Eleventh streets have been made initial points of numbering and the divisional points in the application of compass designations to the streets. Thus to the first block north or south of Eleventh street the numbers 1 to 99 have been assigned; to the second block 101 to 199; to the third block 201 to 299; to the fourth block 301 to 399; to the fifth block 401 to 499; to the sixth block 501 to 599; to the seventh block 601 to 699; to the eighth block 701 to 799; to the ninth block 801 to 899; to the tenth block 901 to 999; to the eleventh block 1001 to 1099; to the twelfth block 1101 to 1199; to the thirteenth block, 1201 to 1299; to the fourteenth block 1301 to 1399; to the fifteenth block 1401 to 1499.

To the first block east or west of North or South Broadway, 1 to 99; to the second block 101 to 199; to the third block 201 to 299; to the fourth block, 301 to 399; to the fifth block, 401 to 499; to the sixth block, 501 to 599; to the seventh block west, 601 to 699; to the eighth block, 701 to 799; to the ninth block, 801 to 899; to the tenth block, 901 to 999.

All Avenues crossing Eleventh Street have the prefix North when north and the prefix South when south of the same; all Streets crossing Broadway have the prefix East when east and the prefix West when west of the same.

CARBON COUNTY

Carbon County, organized in 1895, soon after the segregation of the territory comprising the county from the Crow Indian Reservation, has been rapidly settled and its growth has been marvelous. Bounded on the south by the Beartooth Mountains, from which spring several large rivers, and numberless streams, the lands of Carbon County are especially well watered. Its soil is productive and its climate healthful and invigorating. While essentially a farming, fruit-growing and stock-raising county, Carbon is also the chief coal-producing section of the Northwest. It has the largest, best known and most inexhaustible coal measures in Montana, which are extensively operated, thus affording a permanent and constant home market for the products of the farm. The presence of these three industries—each flourishing, and helpful to the others—insures the prosperity of the whole community.

Twelve coal mining plants are in operation in Carbon County, as employ an aggregate of 2,000 men.

Two million tons of coal are annually produced in Carbon County. During the past year extensive development work has been done at Red Lodge, Washoe and Bear Creek, and the coming season will show a very large increase in the production and in the number of men employed.

Carbon County has yet a large acreage of unappropriated Government land. This land is almost all on the divides between the principal streams, which traverse the county from the mountains on the south, emptying into the Yellowstone River on the north. These streams are the two Rosebuds, Rock Creek and Clark's Fork and their tributaries. With the exception of Clark's Fork all of them have heavy falls, so that the water can be carried by ditches over the higher lands between with comparatively slight expense. They furnish ample irrigating water for all the settled lands and then their full capacity is not nearly reached, as is proven by the fact that the rights to the water of but one stream, Rock Creek, have been adjudicated.

Of the unappropriated public land, much is suitable for dry farming. Most of this land is between Rock Creek and the Rosebuds. The soil is principally a black, sandy loam, and abounds in springs and small streams.

Dry farming has been successfully practiced for several years in the southern part of the above territory, and the yield of crops has compared very favorably with adjoining irrigated lands. The principal crops are wheat, oats and barley. Yields average for oats from 60 to 90 bushels, wheat 30 to 50 bushels and barley from 40 to 45 bushels per acre.

There is one grain elevator and numerous grain warehouses throughout the country.

There is a creamery and refrigerating plant in Red Lodge. Joliet has a flour mill of 200 barrels capacity. The plant was erected at a cost of $50,000. There are other good locations for flour mills which will be utilized when the wheat supply is increased.

The most important agricultural section of the county is Clark's Fork Valley, which is one of the most productive portions of Montana, furnishing as great a variety in products of agriculture and horticulture as may be found in the State, from wheat to corn. The valley, varying in width from four to 14 miles, is nearly one hundred miles long, extending from Last Mont., to Wyoming. Transportation facilities are furnished by a branch line of the Northern Pacific Railroad from Billings.

Sugar beets are extensively grown and are shipped to...

Billings beet sugar factory. All grains and grasses yield profusely. Apples, plums, pears, peaches, watermelons and cantaloupes are grown to perfection. Even a little tobacco is grown for home consumption. The cantaloupes are said to be equal in flavor to those grown at Rocky Ford, Colo., and if they were grown in quantities so that shipments in carload lots could be made at regular intervals they would be eagerly bought by residents of Montana at prices assuring large profits to the growers.

Fruit grows to a good size, is excellent in flavor and appearance, is free from worms and possesses splendid keeping qualities. In this valley, near Fromberg, is the celebrated Clark orchard.

On irrigated lands the principal crops vary with the altitude. In the southern central portion of the county, where the altitude is about 5,000 feet, the chief crops are wheat, barley, oats, potatoes and timothy hay, all of which yield above the average, and are of exceptional quality, as instanced by oats weighing from 40 to 45 pounds to the bushel. In the lower altitude, to the above mentioned crops may be added alfalfa, hay, sugar beets, and apples.

These irrigated lands are largely supplied with water from individual rights, or an interest in a neighborhood ditch, there being comparatively few incorporated ditch companies, and the water right sells with the land. Such lands sell from $25 to $50 per acre, until the fruit belt is reached, and then the price advances to $100 to $150 per acre, the prices depending upon location, fitness for special crops and improvements. Such lands are selling at prices which will seem low a few years from now. Unirrigated lands can be bought for $10 per acre or less.

Red Lodge, the county seat, is the largest town. The city owns its own waterworks, which is a most excellent system.

Between twelve and fifteen miles of concrete sidewalk are completed, and more walk is being added continually.

Other thriving townse are Roberts, on railroad, in the case of an excellent farming and dairy country, from which shipped more farm produce and cream than any other station

the county; Luther, on West Red Lodge Creek, which is a center of a thickly settled and prosperous community; John son lower Rock Creek, which is the trading point of a rich farm ing and fruit country and where a waterworks system and an electric light plant are being installed; Fromberg, in the case of the richest part of Clark’s Fork Valley; Bridger, in the case valley, having both agriculture and coal mining as the basis of its prosperity; Belfry, a railroad junction and trading place and Bear Creek, where are five coal mines.

There is a strong probability that oil will be found in Clark’s Fork Valley. In the mountains are mining claims, showing some of gold, silver, lead and copper.

As a place for an outing Carbon County offers many attractions; the climate is healthy; the streams are filled with fish;

the foothills furnish fine hunting of small and feathered game while all kinds of large game are to be found farther back in the forests, the streams, the lakes and the mountains com-some of the most picturesque scenery in America.

Columbus, Stillwater County, Montana

Columbus, the county seat of the new county of Stillwater, is a growing little city of about 1,200 people. It is located in the main line of the Northern Pacific railway in the Missouri River Valley, and geographically it could not be more centrally located to serve the people of Stillwater County. It is the distributing point for all the inland towns lying both north and south of the railroad. It is elegantly lighted by electricity and has extended service for domestic and commercial use. It has a course of construction of a water system for fire and domestic purposes that, when completed, will be a credit to a town of its size.

It has four hustling mercantile houses, two substantial two-story stores, two lumber yards, three livery stables, a large and up-to-date blacksmith and machine shop, and other minor business houses and tradesmen.

Columbus, Stillwater County, Montana

Columbus, the county seat of the new county of Stillwater, is a growing little city of about 1,000 people. It is located in the Little Valley, and geographically it could not be better located to serve the people of Stillwater County. The distributing points for all the inland towns lying both north and south of the railroad.

It is elegantly lighted by electricity and has excellent service for domestic and commercial use. It has a splendid course of construction a water system for fire and domestic purposes that, when completed, will be a credit to a town of its size.

Columbus has four husting mercantile houses, two substantial drug stores, two lumber yards, three livery stables, a large and up-to-date blacksmith and machine shop, and other minor business houses and tradesmen.

The Odd Fellows and Redmen lodges are well represented, and the odd, contumacious and commodious lodge rooms. The Stillwater Lodge has the distinction of having one of the best pike shire of the State. It also has within its limits a modern bowling and other products of the west. Columbus sandstone is noted for its beauty far and wide.

It has two thriving newspapers, the News, the official of the county, and the Democrat. Both have done a most creditable work, and give the public better reading and two newspapers more publicity than the ordinary country town.

The professional men are well represented, and the lawyers are competent physicians and surgeons. Among its residences are many beautiful and commodious homes.

Cement sidewalks and crossings are laid, and the streets are well graved. Among its business houses are found many substantial buildings of stone and wood.

It is a thriving town, and from a business point of view Columbus present better opportunities than most of the towns in the county.

Stillwater County, Montana

Stillwater County is distinguished by the youth of its boundaries. It was created by the vote of its citizens in 1913, being formed from portions of Carbon, Sweet Grass and Beaver counties. Its area is not equal to most of the adjoining counties, but it probably has within its confines more fertile land than any other County in the State. It is divided into 37 Townships or approximate oblong portions, and its entire area is composed of the rich valleys of the Rosebud, Yellowstone and the Rapid Creeks, while the extreme Southern portion consists of the rich coal and ore fields of the Beartooth Range of the Rocky Mountains. This portion of the County is also noted for its beautiful scenery, fine trout fishing, and excellent hunting grounds.

The historic Yellowstone River crosses the County through the middle portion, giving it many acres of fertile irrigated lands raising bounteous crops of all kinds of grain, alfalfa and fruits. To the North it has the fertile divides of the White Bear, Kayser, Hensley and Volley creeks and the vast empire of land known as the Great Lake Basin which consists of some of the best agricultural land found anywhere in the West.

As a whole Stillwater County is an agricultural county with a great future. Alfalfa is the King of the irrigated crops, with oats, other small grains, fruits and vegetables next in importance. With an average rainfall of from 18 to 24 inches a year and the fertility of the soil makes the bench and non-irrigated lands produce bounteous crops of winter wheat, flax, barley and oats, not surpassed anywhere in the State for yield and quality. Cattle, horses, sheep and hogs are also extensively raised and dairying will eventually be an important factor. Climatic conditions are ideal, while the summer days are warm, the nights are always cool, on account of the altitude and the winters milder than any other portion of the United States in the same latitude, excepting the west coast.

BILLINGS DYE HOUSE
Largest and Only Fireproof Plant in the City
EXPERT CLEANERS AND DYERS
117 North 30th Street
Our Wagons Call for and Deliver to All Parts of the City Park City is located on the main line of the Northern P Ry, 25 miles west of Billings and 18 miles east of Colusa, the county seat, in a very fertile part of the Yellowstone valley. The townsite is perfectly level, the buildings painted and well kept, while the large shade trees, the green lawns, the beautiful park, and the clean, well graded streets all lend their charms to make it a pleasant place in which to live.

The land around Park City is of the very best. With an abundance of water for irrigation, the richest of soil, a good growing climate the crops of sugar beets, alfalfa, etc., are always excellent and the yields surprisingly large. Here we find the oldest and best orchards, the highest per cent of saccharine matter in the sugar beets, the banner crop of oats per acre (150 bus.) and the largest yield of potatoes per acre.

Lying north of and tributary to Park City, is the great Basin country which is being rapidly settled. The shows made by this country last year in the face of the drouth prove that it is beyond the experimental stage and that success is sure where the work is done in accordance with sound principles. The wheat crop last year went from 18 bushels per acre which, when we consider the unusually dry season, was a good showing indeed. Under favorable conditions this so-called dry land will yield far greater returns. The may still be had good dry land homesteads near Park City.

Here you will find a community of generous, broad-minded intelligent people so thoroughly imbued with the western spirit of hospitality that you will feel at home from the very first day. Exp, Northern. Tel W U. Edward W Peck, postmaster.

BIG HORN COUNTY DIRECTORY—HARDIN 791

HARDIN

Hardin, the principal market point of the county, a rapidly growing town on the Burlington Ry, 58 miles east of Billings, is designated as the permanent county seat. It is located about one mile west of the west bank of the Big Horn river, nearly opposite from where the Little Big Horn river flows into the Big Horn. While it was a thriving town at the time it was chosen county seat, it has made rapid advancement since that time, now numbering about 1,000 souls. During the period from April 1 to October 1 there has been expended in buildings approximately $135,000, among the number being the Livian two-story brick block with a frontage of 140 feet on 3rd street at a cost of $35,000. Besides numerous mercantile establishments and offices, this building will house the various county offices for the next five years. Many other businesses and fine residences were erected during this period, including the first custom flour mill in the county. Various business and social enterprises are represented, including two elevators, an oil station, two banks, a newspaper, an opera house, several grocery and dry goods stores, a drug store, two hardware stores, furniture store, harness and saddlery shop, steam laundry, a modern bakery, four saloons, two hotels, three restaurants, several rooming houses, two livery stables and other businesses, churches, a splendid public school, public library and the Hardin Club, and an alfalfa products mill, which is in course of construction. The town council has just endorsed a franchise for an electric light plant, which will be in operation about the first of the year 1914, and has taken the preliminary steps towards bonding the city for a sum sufficient to install a modern water works system and to take over the present plant, which has been outgrown by the town. There a number of new enterprises contemplated, such as a door and planing mill, a portable house company and a sale merchandise company.

An enterprise which will contribute largely to the growth of Hardin and contiguous territory is that of the Horn Canyon Irrigation & Power Company, a corporation organized to develop the immense water power of the Horn river. This company now has a surveying party field locating an electric road from the Big Horn canyon miles south of Hardin, north through Hardin connecting with the Northern Pacific Railroad at Custer, 35 miles distant to the electric power to be generated by the Horn river, the company proposes to irrigate a large area—125,000 acres—of bench land adjacent to Hardin. The is growing rapidly in population and this is due to the splendid public school system and the public library. Diversity of industries adds greatly to the prosperity of people. The farming industry is growing every year and land is brought under cultivation, as all grains, root crops grow readily, ripen before frost and make good yields. The greater portion of the lands under the have passed into the hands of private owners, yet there few additional homesteads opened from time to time, opportunities to purchase excellent deeded farm and land at reasonable prices are abundant; but, as the country and production increases, so will land prices advance.

Hardin Chamber of Commerce will gladly furnish information.

Big Horn County, Montana

Big Horn county, one of the youngest counties of the Treasure State, had its beginning the 13th day of January, A.D. 1913, at 12 o'clock, noon, which is evidenced by a certificate issued by the Secretary of State from his office in Helena, following an action held January 6, 1913, for the segregation of portions of Yellowstone and Rosebud counties to create the county of Big Horn. It has an area of about 5,000 square miles and an assessed valuation in round figures of $4,650,000. The development of the territory embraced in this county dates back to the setting apart of certain lands in the Crow Indian reservation, known as the “Ceded Strip,” for the purpose of settlement, of homesteads, and later, certain lands were sold at public auction upon the deferred payment plan to the highest bidder. That additional lands will be set apart for sale or settlement is assured by the fact that the land office has just issued a notice declaring a number of sections subject to homestead entry on or after Dec. 20, 1913.

Even in its infancy, the soils of Big Horn county produce crops equal to the best, and in many cases better in quality, than is produced in its sister counties. Especially is this true of dry land wheat, which grades No. 1 Northern and consistently demands the highest market price per bushel. As the cultivated area increases from year to year, Big Horn county will shortly take its place in the front rank of the grain producing counties of the state. From the waters of the Big Horn and Little Big Horn rivers, with their many tributary creeks, taken sufficient water to irrigate some 200,000 acres or more of land—about 125,000 acres of the same now being under cultivation. This embraces both government and privately owned ditches, the latter being represented in the 32-mile canal known as the Two Leggins Ditch, and the canals of the Big Horn Low Line Ditch Co and the Farmers’ Ditch Company. Irrigation assures the production of crops without any thought of failure and the long growing season makes it possible to raise crops here, such as corn, tomatoes, melons of all kinds.
and kindred crops which a few years ago it was thought possible to grow successfully in this state, and the yca acre is much greater than can be grown in other sections inter-mountain country. Sugar beets thrive here as else, as do potatoes and all kinds of vegetables, as well kinds of grains and grasses. The “Pride of Big Horn Co is “King Alfalfa,” which grows as though wild, day and in sunshine or clouds, and produces from four to seven acre, in three and many times four cuttings per season.
more do we wonder where we will market this crop. The quality of Big Horn county alfalfa is known afar in the and there is now in course of construction at Hardin a the purpose of grinding into meal and mixing the same.
mill has a capacity of 10,000 tons per season, but owing lateness in getting started this, its first season, only 5000 will be ground this year.

In addition to the irrigated lands there are hundreds thousands of acres of dry or bench lands of great properties. Many experienced farmers have demonstrated the past five years that “dry farming,” as it is termed, be carried on profitably, regardless of the amount of and with as great a percentage of profit on the invest ordinary farming under irrigation. Throughout the whole of the county the average rainfall is greater than in many portions of the state, which accounts for an increased production over other sections. Wheat avera high as 42 bushels and oats 72 bushels to the acre the season, when the rainfall was below normal. Above the farm lands are thousands of acres of hill lands which untold pasturage for grazing purposes. In some sections lands are used in common by the resident farmers.

In addition to Hardin the county contains the thriving towns: Crow Agency, 13 miles east of Hardin; quartes for the government officers managing the Crow reservation; St Xavier, 23 miles south of Hardin, where Jesuit fathers maintain an Indian school; Lodge Grass;
ing little town about 35 miles east of Hardin; Wyo, western southeastern portion of the county, and 21 miles north of Hardin. Extensive stock interests are maintained in the range country tributary to Kirby, Sarpy, generally throughout the eastern and northeastern of the county, where thousands of cattle, horses and ranged.
Following is a complete alphabetically arranged list of all towns, villages, post offices and railway stations in Big Horn County. Business firms and individual names will be found at their respective post offices. Farmers and farm tenants names will be found under the heading of Residents and Farmers.

On whom do I depend?
How can I create a bond of sympathy with the Public?

ADVERTISE YOUR GOODS
THAT GIVES YOU AN INDESTRUCTIBLE ASSET
